

Study Abroad Credit Posting and Tar Heel Tracker Adjustments

Effective Spring 2021

This document is a step-by-guide for Department Reviewers to support resolution of student requests for study abroad credit adjustment and questions about where their credit falls in their Tar Heel Tracker, after enrollment credit has been posted to the student's record.

Background

Effective for Spring, 2021 study abroad programs, students will earn enrollment credit for courses completed abroad. (Specifically, TREQ credit will no longer be used.) In order to support this change, leveled departmental elective credit was established, a new Study Abroad grading basis was configured, the Standard Course and Section Numbering Systems \(UPM #4\) policy was updated, and a new process for assigning enrollment credit for study abroad courses has been implemented. More details are available here:

- On the Study Abroad Earning Credit from Spring 2021 forward page
- On the UPM #14 – Administration of International and Domestic Study Abroad and Exchange Programs policy document

The role of the Department Reviewer is twofold:

- On the front end of the process, the Department Reviewer reviews study abroad course syllabi to determine the appropriate UNC credit that should be awarded. See the table below for the types of UNC credit awarded for Study Abroad Courses
- On the back end of the process, the Department Reviewer provides support to students' questions and adjusting the awarded credit as necessary to ensure effective assignment in their Tar Heel Tracker degree audit system.

The document is organized into several sections, accessible through quick links.

Background: Study Abroad credit process overview

1. Pre-approved credit details are available on the (public) list of Pre-Approved Courses, searchable by Study Abroad program, UNC department, and country.
2. Within 30 days of their program start date, students select pre-approved credit or request credit reviews for courses they intend to take abroad, through their Study Abroad Credit portal.
3. For courses that have not been pre-approved, departments (and/or, in some cases, the Study Abroad Office for lower-level credits and general education/elective courses) determine what UNC credit option is appropriate for that abroad course; options include:
 - UNC Equivalent Course
 - Departmental Elective (including Leveled Departmental Electives)
 - General Elective
 - No credit
4. Study Abroad office configures the UNC credit assigned for each course, which then appears on the list of Pre-Approved Courses.
5. Once students complete their study abroad program and the Study Abroad office receives an international transcript, all courses for the student will be recorded with a Study Abroad grade and sent to the Registrar’s Office for processing.
6. The Registrar’s office will post enrollment credit for each course (specifically, a Study Abroad class section, such as 01G), along with the appropriate study abroad grade. The placeholder course (i.e., YAP or ISP course) is assigned a NE grade but remains on the student’s record to designate the country in which the student studied.
7. After enrollment credit is posted, students may reach out to departmental reviewers to request course adjustments to fulfill major or minor requirements.

Background: Types of UNC credit & grades awarded for Study Abroad courses

When students enroll in a study abroad course for which a UNC credit decision is not available (or has expired) on the (public) list of Pre-Approved Courses, the Department Reviewer reviews the syllabus to determine the appropriate credit and the credit will be posted with the study abroad grades summarized in the tables below.

Types of UNC Credit Awarded for Study Abroad courses

Articulation of SA Course	Usage	Degree Application
UNC Equivalent Course (e.g., HIST 128)	Equivalent to UNC Course	Counts same as UNC course (in majors/minor, general education requirements, etc.)
POLI 4--- (or other department)	Political Science (Department) 400-Level Credit	Counts in Political Science major as 400-level elective.
POLI ---- (or other department)	Political Science (Department) General Elective Credit	Counts as General Elective Credit; can be adjusted into major/minor
GENR 180 (or other numbers)	General Credit That Meets General Education Requirement(s)	Meets designated general education requirement(s)
GENR ----	General Elective Credit	General Elective Credit; Counts in Degree Hours

Study Abroad Grades

Grade	Explanation
SA	Study Abroad Pass
SF	Study Abroad Fail
SI	Study Abroad Incomplete
SN	Study Abroad No Credit Awarded
SW	Study Abroad Withdrawal

Credit Assignment: Study Abroad Courses with No UNC Equivalent (e.g, POLI ---)

As part of the new articulation of study abroad credits as UNC courses, courses that do not have a UNC-equivalent will be articulated by generic numbering. For example, a course in Political Science with no UNC equivalent might be articulated as POLI ----. Such courses, by default, are considered general electives, counting only towards the minimum hours required for the degree. Academic departments, when appropriate, can use the Requirements Adjustment Module (RAM) to adjust these (----) courses into majors/minors in the THT.

Credit Assignment: Study Abroad Courses – Department Level (e.g, PSYC 4---)

“Department-level” courses have been created for certain majors and minors. These level-specific courses indicate that the academic department has designated a study abroad course (with no specific UNC equivalent) as a course at certain academic level, e.g., PSYC 4--- means it is a Psychology course equivalent to the 400-level. Some departments may not utilize department-level study abroad courses because those major/minor requirements do not specify levels.

Department-level credit is processed by the Tar Heel Tracker in one of two ways:

- 1) No Adjustment Required: the course automatically fulfills a major/minor requirement while also meeting a level requirement (e.g., ANTH 2--- would count as an elective in the Anthropology major and would meet the 200 and above level requirement).
- 2) Adjustment Required: the course does not automatically fulfill a specific major/minor requirement. If adjusted into the major/minor it will also meet the level requirement designated by the course number (e.g., ASIA 4--- would meet the 400-level requirement in the Asian Studies major).
 - a. Adjustments must be made at the departmental level; the Study Abroad Office does not have the ability or authority to make an adjustment.

The examples included in this document use the RAM (Requirement Adjustment Module) in Connect Carolina and Tarheel Tracker. This is a system that allows trained departmental reviewers to make adjustments to a student’s Tarheel Tracker in real-time (no submission of an adjustment form in Sharepoint).

- o Departmental reviewers are strongly encouraged to sign up for RAM training to gain access to this system. Please contact tarheeltracker@unc.edu for questions regarding RAM.
